COMING FROM KANSAS

A Letter From the Land of Cyclones. Chinch Bugs and Mortgages.

The board of trade is just in receipt of the following letter from Wm. Russell, now a resident of Cloud county, Kansas. He says:

"Dear Sir:-Your compendium of information has been received and read by myself and family, with pleasure. Please accept our thanks for sending it. It gives us some information that we have not gathered before concerning Oregon. I intend to forward this book to my oldest son, M. F. Russell, who is living now in Nebraska. No preventing providence, I will leave here with my family for New Era, Oregon, in August. If you could send me two or three circulars, I can make a good use of them in giving them to those here that are thinking of going to Washington Territory as soon as they can sell out here. I also give you a few names of others that are living at a distance from us, that you may send to direct. * * We are having cold backward weather here for corn with some slight bail storms and cyclones in places. We hope there will be nomore. * * Any papers you see fit to send to me will be read and circulated with pleasure. A lady that intends going to the Willamette Valley, asked me for one of my letters to-day." This letter is from a man who intends to come, and he will be cultivated, and furnished all information possible. He encloses some clippings from Kansas papers. One describes a hall storm that destroyed ment reducing the duty on impor- the gardens; one tells how two thirds of the country is deeded to eastern money loaning agents at ten per cent.; another is the story of the death of a boy aged 14 from a stroke of lightning; the last is a twelve and nonpareil kick against those delightful pests called the chinch bug.

No wonder they want to come to Oregon where storms and cyclones are unknown, and where chinch bugs don't eat up the garden "sass" and "sich."
